OREGON.

Salem has a board of Fire Underwriters.

Maude, a little daughter of J. B. McClane, of Salem, died on Sunday last.

The Gov. Grover had 51 passengers on her upward trip last Monday when she arrived at Salem.

The remains of Dr. B W. Mitchell, late of the Dalles, have been taken to Marysville, California, for interment, and have already reached their final resting place.

The residence of Mr. Riley, North Salem, was entered by burglars last Sunday night who carried off a pair of blankets and a plug of tobacco. They undoubtedly had an eye to comfort.

A party of railroad bridge builders arrived on the train at Salem Monday with various kinds of implements used in that work. We are not informed whether they intend to bridge the Wallamet at Salem or at Portland.

An exporting house in San Francisco has sold to a London firm a lot of 60,000 dozen cans of salmon, which is now being packed on the Columbia river. If these goods meet an appreciative market, it is not impossible that the movement of canned salmon East may equal that of oysters West.

The last Monthly Report of the Department of Agriculture gives the prices current in the principal markets of the United States during the month of March. In the San Francisco market, as shown by the report, California butter commanded 40@45 cts. per pound and Oregon butter, 18@20 cts. Butter makers of Webfoot, these things need not and ought not so to be.

The Statesman of Tuesday says: "As the southern bound freight train was coming up through French Prairie, the engineer discovered a sow on the track a short distance ahead. The screaming whistle and thundering train frightened the animal greatly, and by her tumbling and kicking showed that she was tied. The engineer whistled 'down brakes,' but before the train had come upon her, she had freed herself and was making lengthy tracks across the prairie. The animal was tied to the cattle guard by some person, but for what purpose is not known."

THE TERRITORIES.

The new soap factory at Port Townsend is turning out fifty boxes per day.

P. Fitzpatrick has been adjudged insane at Olympia, and sent to the asylum at Steilacoom.

Kalama now claims to have 500 inhabitants.

W. G. Ballard, formerly of Portland, is President of her City Council.

Merchants of Utah and Wyoming Territories are said to be patronizing Chicago this spring much more extensively than ever before.

The mother and married sister of H. Guido Grob, whose death by drowning we announced a few days ago, live in Silver City. They were formerly residents of Portland.

Two young ladies of Silver City are to run a foot race for a wager, shortly. Hoop skirts, chignons and bustles are to be ruled out and the fair racoresses will appear in bloomer costumes.

The County Commissioners of Boise county have ousted John Gorman from the Assessorship of that county, and appointed Ben Davis in his stead. It is claimed that Gorman was a defaulter in a large sum.

On the railroad between Kalama and Tenino, nothing has interfered with the time-card regularity of the trains, and passenger and freight transit by this route has largely increased within the last week or two.

The Tribune wants a signal station established at some point on Puget Sound for the protection of the lumber fleets that visit those waters, and says "their timely warnings will go far to remove the only danger that now threatens that important trade."

The working gangs of Chinese and others are extended on the railroad line in sections from Tenino toward and through Yelm Prairie, where boarding and other camps are being established, and we suppose that at the present time operations are fairly organized.

The Kalama Beacon says: The river has fallen to a stage which indicates that there is little or no thaw now or lately going on in the upper country, and that the warm weather of next month will send us down the melted snow from Snake river and Kootenai, perhaps all at once. If this conjunction happens, skiffs will be in demand about this vicinity.

The Argus gives the particulars of the death of a man named John Ward, at Port Townsend, April 15th, under circumstances that the editor appears to regard as supporting the supposition that, as medicine had been administered to Ward by a doctor who is a fit subject for the insane asylum, it was not improbable that his death was hastened thereby. The deceased was a native of Hernusand, Sweden, aged about 40 year.

The Beacon says: The present terminus northward, sixty-five miles from Kalama, is at present a very lively place, and is daily becoming more so. This town is the headquarters of Montgomery's operations on the forty miles extension, and till he moves forward, Tenino will flourish as the disbursing center for the "nick nax" consumed and used among railroaders, of which "benzine" will probably be a principal staple.

The Boise Statesman says: "Jo Pinkham, United States Marshal, has just received instructions from the Attorney General to enter into a contract for keeping the Territorial prisoners for another year, at the rate of $1 per day each. The Legislature last winter made provision for meeting such a contract by the sale of prison warrants, not to exceed a sum below 70 cents on the dollar. The present condition of the Territorial credit is such that these warrants may not bring this sum in ready cash."

Hon. R. T. Miller, of Idaho, died at Silver City on the 11th inst. at the age of 45 years. Judge Miller was born at Jacksonville, Illinois, and emigrated to California at an early day, and went to Idaho Territory in the spring of 1865 with Hon. E. J. Curtis, formerly law partners in California, and for a considerable time afterwards in that Territory. Judge Miller was appointed Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of that Territory in 1868. He had a noble heart, and was a man of large brain, and ranked high in his profession.

The Bozeman, Montana, Avant Courier says: We have received a letter from Major Bruce of a late date, stating that a contract had been let to reliable parties to build the Northern Pacific railroad from the crossing of the Missouri river to the mouth of Powder river by the first of December next, which will place us within three hundred miles of the terminus of the N. P. R. R., and make Bozeman the outfitting point for the railroad. The effect of this will be experienced ere the sere and yellow leaf, and it has now the prestige over every other town in Montana.

The Seattle Dispatch of the 17th inst., shows an unusual mortality in that vicinity during a few days past. It says that Thomas Snow, aged 61 years, died in Seattle the 16th inst; also David Mauer, for many years a resident of King county, died the same day in the same place, being strangled by the bursting of a blood vessel, shortly after eating a hearty dinner, while seemingly in good health. A boatman named Thomas Jackson had a fit of apoplexy the same day at Port Blakely, during which he was conveyed to Seattle for medical treatment, but expired soon after landing.

THE MODOCS ATTACK!!

Details of the Last Attack by Modocs

Scarfaced Charley Not Killed.

The Feeling among Various Tribes.

YREKA, April 22.—The following has just been received:

IN THE LAVA BED, April 21.—The pack train leaving the camp for Col Mason's camp at the lava bed under escort of Lt. Howe and twenty men was attacked yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. Prior to this an escort from Mason's camp, coming to meet them, was attacked at the head of a long cave. Lt Leary and men sought shelter behind the rocks and drove the Modocs back. When Lt. Howe came near them they (the Modocs) attacked them, but were again driven back. Lt. Leary lost one man killed and one wounded. The train arrived safe, but was fired on when he entered the lava bed and again on his return. When returning this side the cave Howe was again attacked by the Modocs who followed him to camp firing on the team. They came up to within one hundred yards, fired at the pickets and sent a volley through camp. Major Thomas sent a shell into their midst which scattered them. There were eleven in the attacking party. Arms were distributed to all in camp and we were ready for them, but they soon fled into the rocks. The Warm Spring Indians will be armed to day and start to hunt the Modocs out. They are all scattered in small parties and will be difficult to follow. The roads to Yreka are not safe. The country is in a great ferment.

YREKA, April 22.—The regular courier arrived from the front at 4 P. M. to-day, having left there yesterday morning.

The remains of Eugene Hovey reached town at 7 o'clock this morning, escorted by the volunteers who had gone out after them. They met his father at Ballo, on his way in. His funeral took place to day, and was largely attended.

From some of the volunteers escorting Hovey's remains to town, and who talked with Fairchild, we learn that Scar-faced Charley was not killed; the body supposed to be his being that of Shacknasty Frank.

Schonchin's body was found and his head taken to camp. He was not killed, only wounded by Meacham; but he was killed by a shell—his whole body below the breast being torn away.

Watchastate, another young Modoc, was also recognized among the dead. The shell that killed Schonchin and others, was picked up by Watchastate, before it exploded, to see what it was made of, when it burst in his hand.

From the way things looked in the cave, and the finding of ammunition, provisions and other articles, it was evident the Indians left in a great hurry, no doubt supposing their stronghold would be blown up any moment.

Several Indian tracks—or at least those of seven—were seen between Fairchild's place and the lower end of Klamath Lake, and the opinion of many seems to be that small parties may be scarching around after good horses, while enough will remain in the Lava bed to keep the soldiers there.

The following is from the Yreka Journal's correspondent at the front, and will be published to-morrow morning:

LAVA BED, April 22.—Just as a train was coming from Mason's camp at my last writing, it was fired on and the Modocs driven back.

Another escort following was also attacked. They had a live set to in sight of the signal station. The boys again drove them back and the train passed on, and leaving the escorts, safely entered the rocks at Hospital Point. On their return past this point they were fired on again, and about a quarter of a mile from the fighting ground they were attacked again from behind a rock. Major Thomas threw a shell and scattered them like sheep. The Modocs are evidently scattered out in small parties. The road between here and Goose Nest Mountain, and the road to Yreka, should not be traveled without an escort, as it is dangerous.

April 20, 4 P. M.—The Cavalry have returned. No signs of the Indian trail. They have not left the lava bed.

Dr. Cabanies has returned from the lava bed, and reports two squaws captured. An old squaw was brought in yesterday, and was shown Schonchin's head. She said it was his. The head was cut off for medical use, and when shown to captured squaws they said, "That's Schonchin; he was killed by Meacham at the massacre."

The Cavalry traveled in all about eighty miles in making the circuit of the lava bed, but saw no Indians. The Warm Spring Indians will be on the trail of those rambling Modocs who have bothered us to night.

Dr. Cabanies, who was all along the line during the day's fight, says he has counted 12 warriors slain, and how many have been buried no one knows. He has the face and scalp of Schonchin.

Modocs were seen to-day from the lookout signal station.

Ticknor started with an express to Linkville to-day, but saw Modocs and had to turn back.

Simpson, of the Illustrated London Press, is reported to have arrived to day.

Twelve Modocs were supposed to have been killed in the fights yesterday.

Jack Davis, who arrived from Hot Springs Valley a few days since, said the people heard of the massacre of General Canby and the Peace Commissioners, but as it was told by a deserter they did not believe it, several deserters passing that way having told so many false stories. The people did not appear any way alarmed about the Modocs going that way if they escaped from the lava bed, and the Pitt river Indians having given up their arms some time ago, still seemed friendly as ever.

There is much speculation in regard to the Modocs gaining aid from other tribes. It is possible that all the tribes except the Warm Springs sympathize with Captain Jack in his war on the whites, but they are satisfied that to aid him means extermination.

The Pitt river Indians, we think, will not be likely to join Jack, unless he forces them to do so. They are a miserable set, and have become so demoralized over the many severe chastisements by General Crook that they have lost all courage to fight the whites.

The Smoke Creeks, about Fall river, are a mean set, and really belong to the Piute.

The Snakes and Piutes who roam about Goose Lake and farther north, are vicious customers, and although belonging to some northern reservation in Idaho or Oregon, are constantly prowling around that section of country comprising Goose Lake, Chewaucan and other valleys in Eastern Oregon, Northern Nevada and Southern Idaho. On this side, the Shastas scarcely number half a dozen warriors, and they have always been bitter enemies of the Modocs.

The Scott Valley and Klamath River Indians, although sought for, have never shown the least disposition to take any stock in Captain Jack's crusade. The Indians hereabouts and throughout Scott valley are as well posted as the whites on the movements of the Modocs, and signal fires have been reported on some of the hills in Scott valley, whether to signal the Modocs or not we are unable to say.

NOAH'S REAL NAME.—It is said that the Chinese declare that Noah's real name was Ah Boo, and that he resided in Pekin. Unfortunately Noah's family Bible was lost in the flood, and we cannot ascertain from it exactly what his name was. His door plate also seemed to be missing, and he had a very careless way of neglecting to mark his shirts; so we are baffled in that direction. We have inquired at the library for a copy of the Pekin Directory of that date, to see if Noah really figured in its pages; but the only copy any of them had was out. For our part, we do not believe his name was Ah Boo, or that he resided in Pekin. These Chinamen claim everything that is going from gunpowder to newspaper. If we give them any ground on the Noah business, the first thing we know they will be out with the assertion that the ark was insured in the Pekin Mutual Company, that Noah used to give the newspaper people free tickets to go and watch the animals perform. The interests of Christianity require that we should believe the Bible.

EASTERN DATES TO APRIL 21.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Caldwell in Clover.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Court of Claims to day rendered judgment against the United States in favor of ex Senator Caldwell for $300,588 on a contract for army transportation to Nebraska in 1863. Chief Justice Drake dissented

Sudden End of a Libel Suit.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The suit of G. B. Davis against the New York Times for libel, was tried to day. Davis was put on the stand, when counsel for defendant objected to his testimony, on the ground that he was a convicted felon. The Judge sustained the objection, thus ending the trial.

A Tribune special says a report from Vienna, that commissionerships to the Vienna Exposition had been sold, prompted an inquiry at the State Department as to whether anything of the kind had come to the knowledge of the Department or not. Mr. Fish replied that such rumors had come to the Department, some time ago, but he suspected the reports arose from another matter.

Indignant Politicians.

CHICAGO, April 22.—A Washington special says that parties in the interest of the Kellogg government in Louisiana, deny that the citizens of that State, particularly in New Orleans, are more than ordinarily delinquent in payment of taxes. They state that the official records of the parish of New Orleans will show that during the months of February and March, two-thirds of the tax-payers there voluntarily paid the assessments levied upon their real and personal property then due, as well as assessments for licenses. The returns from country parishes are not so complete, but so far as received, show a similar proportion. From this statement, it is argued that anticipated troubles from this source are greatly exaggerated with a view to ruin the credit of the Kellogg administration.

Meeting of Peace Commissioners.

The same special says a session of the Peace Commissioners will soon be commenced in New York for the purpose of a general consultation on Indian affairs. The Commissioners generally admit that the recent conduct of the Indians, culminating in the Modoc massacre, has done much to destroy public confidence in the efficacy of the peace policy. Those of the Commission who have expressed any opinion in the matter whatever, generally condemn the order for the extermination of the Modocs, claiming that it had in its origin more revengeful impulses than a desire to peacefully solve dangerous and difficult problems.

EASTERN STATES.

How Certain Bonds were Recovered.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The recovery of nearly a quarter of a million of dollars in United States bonds which had been obtained by McDonald, alias Bidwell, and his associates in the late Bank of England forgeries, was effected to-day. The facts concerning them are as follows: On the 5th of March last a trunk said to contain wearing apparel was delivered at the office of the North Atlantic Express, No. 4 Margaret street, London, by a person calling himself C. Lessing, of Tunbridge Wells, and addressed to Major G. Matthews, New York, to be kept in bond at the express office, No. 71 Broadway, New York, until called for. The trunk was duly forwarded by the express company, and reached New York by the steamship Cuba, which arrived March 20th, and was kept in bond by the company as per instructions until Saturday last, when a woman calling herself Mrs. Matthews presented an order, duly signed G. Matthews. Meantime counsel for the Bank of England had received some information with regard to the trunk which led to its detention until to-day, when it was taken possession of under an order by the Supreme Court by Nathaniel Jarvis, Esq., receiver in the Bank of England forgery case, and on being opened and examined was found to contain a quantity of wearing apparel, two gold watches, several miscellaneous articles, and three packages of United States 5-20 and 10 40 bonds rolled up in soiled linen,—amounting in all to $220,900. The bonds were found to be identical in class, amounts, and numbers, with those advertised by the Bank of England to have been obtained by the Bidwell forgeries. In the trunk were found cards and card plate, with memorandum bill, etc., showing conclusively that it had been shipped by and telegraphed to him out of $300,000 obtained from the Bank of England by these forgers. But about $30,000 remains to be recovered.

Vi et Armis.

ADMITE, La., April 21.—One hundred police from New Orleans, armed with Winchester rifles, arrived here last night and installed the Kellogg Recorder and Parish Judge of this parish to-day.

Forty Metropolitans went to Greensburg this morning.

Celebration in Richmond.

RICHMOND, April 21.—The anniversary of the proclamation of the Fifteenth Amendment was celebrated here to day with more than usual pomp by the colored people. The procession was the largest ever witnessed in Richmond on any occasion.

Steamer Lost.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The French mail steamer Gambia was wrecked March 25th, on the Brazilian coast. No lives lost.

Corruption Among the "Skilled Artisans."

NEW YORK, April 22.—A special announces that one of our Commissioners who is now on his way to Vienna, is suspended for improper practices, and another is suspected and his case is being inquired into. Reports are in circulation that some of the complimentary commissioners secured their appointments in order to represent certain manufacturing interests, and that a Sewing Machine Company and a Gun Company, each, have a Government Commissioner in its employ.

General Butler is announced to be a candidate for Governor of Massachusetts and he is confident of election.

The Presidential Tour.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—It is stated that the President and party will leave here Thursday morning for Idaho Springs, Colorado.

In a brief response to a toast at Henry T. Blow's yesterday the President said that while St. Louis is one of the few places which he has lived long enough in to form close attachments, it is not probable that he will ever make his home in this city.

Miscellaneous.

A dispatch from Paris announces the death of Taglioni, the famous danseuse.

The War Department has no dispatches to-day from General Schofield, and none are expected until he can report the results of the present military movements against the Modocs.

The Stokes Case.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The case of Stokes was before the Supreme Court to-day on preliminary motion as to procedure in higher court. A decision will be given tomorrow, when the argument on the main motion will be heard.

The number of passengers booked to cross the Atlantic this season is 21,300.

The director of the mint states that the "dies" for the new trade dollar will be submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury in about one week, and thinks the coin will be ready for issue in New York and San Francisco by the 1st of June.

Results of the Recent Storm.

LINCOLN, April 22.—Trains of the B. & M. R. R. came in this morning for the first time in a week, and report the late storm to have been the severest ever known here. Men were frozen to death within two rods of the house trying to get stock to feed them. Near Grafton a man named Keller attempted to reach a neighbor's scarcely half a mile distant, accompanied by his wife and child. The two latter were frozen to death. Mr. Marshall, near Hastings, perished while trying to reach stock from his house. The wife and child of Mr. Brent, near Red Cloud, were frozen while attempting to reach a neighbor's, after the house was rendered uninhabitable. Their bodies were found to-day, ten rods from the house. Families were compelled to take refuge in cellars, or keep their beds for two days. Houses were blown down and filled with snow. The destruction of cattle and horses was great. Some lost all they had. One party lost a whole herd of 76 head. Gullies on railroads are filled. Snow hard as ice. Plows useless.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

From Paris.

PARIS, April 22.—Dispatches from Algiers say four insurgent Arabian chiefs have been executed at Constantinople.

From London.

LONDON, April 22.—Advance in Atlantic cable rates are now expected, instead of a reduction, as some time ago announced to take place May 1st.

WEST INDIES.

Ceballos Superseded.

HAVANA, April 10.—Pieltain, the new Captain General for Cuba arrived yesterday, and was received with the usual formal ceremonies. An immense concourse of citizens witnessed his disembarkation, but not a cheer was uttered, not even for Spain. At a reception given him, he said he hoped he would soon be able to finish the rebellion with the aid of loyalists.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Jesse Grant, son of the President, will arrive to-night with the family of Hon. O. Cole.

About three months since, when the epizootic first appeared at Salt Lake, about thirty oxen were purchased and put on a ranch in San Mateo county, and now that the disease has reached this city they will be called into service.

The case of the young man Bryan, who shot and killed Ah Wing in July last, was called for trial in the Third District Court to-day. The court was delayed in procuring a jury.

Three trains of delayed passengers by the overland route arrived this morning at 1 A. M.

Several horses belonging to the Omnibus Railroad Co. are down with the epizootic.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Over 1,200 horses are sick. The Central Railroad Company is the only one which continues to make regular trips. Hacks are in demand. Large numbers of express wagons have been taken off. Nearly all the livery stables have suspended business. Cars are greatly overcrowded. Some horses have already recovered, and it is hoped the epidemic will run its course in a few days.

The funeral of Lieutenant Dennison, who shot himself last week, took place this afternoon from the residence of Mrs. Dennison. Eight naval officers acted as escort, and fifty or sixty of the officers and men of the Saranac were present. The body will be sent to Columbus, Ohio, where the father of deceased resides. Mrs. Dennison did not attend the services at the church, being confined to her home by sickness.

A large crowd have been in attendance all this afternoon in Fourteenth District Court listening to the testimony in the breach of promise case of Helena C. Frazer vs. J. W. Thrift. She sues for $25,000; case not yet concluded.

The annual picnic of the Odd Fellows will be held at Alameda, Saturday next.

Ben Holladay's Railroad.

HISTORY OF THE BONDS OF THE OREGON AND CALIFORNIA RAILROAD.

[From the N. Y. Railroad Gazette, April 8.]

At the bondholders' meeting in Frankfort-on-the-Main, March 5th, a paper was read by George Minoprio, giving the following history of the bonds:

The loan was brought out in Frankfort in February, 1870. The company had a land grant at the rate of 12,800 acres per mile of road to be constructed. The mortgage was recorded April 16, 1870, F. D. Atherton and Milton S. Latham being the Trustees. The mortgage is for $10,950,000 of bonds, to be issued at the rate of not more than $3,000 per mile of completed road. The lands are held as security for the bonds under

A SEPARATE MORTGAGE.

A letter from Ben Holladay, the President, gave the gross earnings in November, 1871, as $61,000 and the working expenses, $20,000. The remainder of the loan was thereupon taken up. In April, letters from Mr. Latham said that the continuation of the road was in doubt, and the net earnings were not sufficient for the interest payments. In the middle of May, 1872, in London, a conference ratified a contract with the Oregon Steamship Company, by which said company was to pay over its net receipts to

MILTON S. LATHAM,

The trustee of the bondholders, in consideration of a payment of $800,000. This contract is to hold until the $800,000 is paid back. Pressing inquiries concerning the condition of the road, its net earnings, equipment, etc., have hitherto received no satisfactory answers. On the 20th of January Latham wrote that the net earnings would not, into about $100,000, meet the April coupons; and that Holladay would not or could not provide for them. He, Latham, would have about $164,000, which would be at the disposition of the bondholders.

On the 26th of February Latham telegraphed that the gross receipts in January were $41,000, the working expenses and repairs $37,000.

Had damaged the track and equipment. The net earnings of the steamers in January had been $10,000. Holladay would cover the April interest.

Concerning the sale of the lands to the European and Oregon Land Company, the Committee found that all the lands which had been or would be the property of the company for constructing the road were sold at the price of $1.25 an acre, payable in 1881. Patents for 1,536,000 acres had been issued at the close of 1872, and two-thirds as much more was due.

After debate, resolutions were adopted forming a committee for the protection of

THE RIGHTS OF THE BONDHOLDERS,

With headquarters at Frankfort-on-the Main, consisting of six members, the Chairman being Heinrich Hohenemser, Director of the German Union Bank, which committee is authorized to take all legal measures for the enforcement of the claims of the bondholders, negotiate with the company, and even proceed with foreclosure.

The money for the interest was provided in good time, and paid promptly; the fears of the bondholders are that the property will not earn its interest hereafter.

WHAT IS AN INCH OF RAIN?—An English acre consists of 6,272,640 square inches; and an inch deep of rain on an acre yields 6,272,730 cubic inches of water, which at 277,274 cubic inches to the gallon make 25,622.5 gallons; and, as a gallon of distilled water weighs 10 pounds, the rainfall on an acre is 226,225 pounds avoirdupois; as 2,000 pounds are a ton, an inch deep of rain weighs 100,993 tons, or nearly 101 tons per acre. In every hundredth of an inch a ton of water falls per acre.

WEDNESDAY MORNING APRIL 23 1873

What is the Matter with the Gold Market?

The New York Herald has an editorial article two columns in length upon the causes of and the remedy for the present high price of gold. The idea that the brokers of Wall street alone or in combination with other operators in the gold market could have so far controlled the currency of the country as to produce the constant and steady upward tendency of specie for the last few months is scouted as wholly irrational. First because the entire bulk of the gold trade of this country is only a drop in the bucket compared with the vast amount of specie that could be thrown upon our market from abroad in case the general state of our commerce would permit it and secondly because there does not and cannot exist that unity of interest and harmony of plan among the various classes of operators here that would be essential to their exercising all their combined influence in a given direction. The Herald therefore looks to other sources for an explanation of the case, and finds an answer to its inquiries in a state of facts that lies deeper down in the foundations of our national prosperity than any of the artificial appliances of the bulls and bears who make profit out of the temporary fluctuations of the currency.

The constant advance of the price of gold is attributed to the steadily increasing balance of trade against this country in the commerce of the world. The gold is drained from here by the enormous demands of foreign nations against us all of which must be met with gold because our national currency is not current outside our own national boundaries. The excess of imports into the United States over exports therefrom always large is shown to be growing larger, at a vast ratio of increase while the amount of the precious metals extracted from the earth does not increase at the same, or anything approximating the same, rate. The excess of importations of merchandise over exportations during the year 1872 was more than $128,000,000, while the excess of exportation of bullion over the importation surpassed $63,000,000. These two excesses added together are given as the actual balance for the year which had to be met in gold.

It is not very plain to us that the sum of these two excesses is necessarily to be considered as the actual balance, for the excess of exported bullion may have gone, and doubtless much of it did go in payment of the balance on the merchandise account.

But one element in the problem which the Herald did not take into account, is the interest on American securities held abroad. A very large portion of the indebtedness of the Government is in the hands of European capitalists, and of late years those capitalists have also taken the securities of our railway companies, and other private enterprises, to a very large amount in the aggregate. The immense sums of money expended for internal works in various parts of the United States in the last few years have come mainly from Europe, or, to speak with greater accuracy, the bulk of them has been borrowed in Europe and then expended in Europe for European material for American works. We first borrow money from the Europeans upon terms which, by reason of the discount on our securities, gives them interest at a very high rate, then turn round and expend the money thus borrowed for their merchandise, giving them their legitimate profits on that item, and then come home with our dearly bought goods to dig out of our mines and out of the soil of our fields the money with which to pay interest on the loan, and to provide for the payment of the principal when it shall fall due.

Another channel through which gold is drawn out of the country to an extent, if the Herald's figures are correct, of which few of our people have any adequate conception, are the expenses of the annual European tours of our people. This travel is increasing at even a much greater ratio than the increase of importations. The amount of money actually expended in Europe by American tourists during the year 1872, is stated to have been over $40,000,000, while the amount expended in this country by European travelers was a mere bagatelle.

It is also to be taken into consideration that we do not do our share of the carrying trade demanded by the immense commerce to which we are parties. Not only is the entire foreign transportation business, practically done by Europeans, but we even divide with them our home carrying—our coasting and inter State trade. And while it is true that our foreign tonnage is just now increasing somewhat, it is likewise true, that, relatively considered, it is not increasing at all, but is diminishing, that is to say, the demands of commerce for sea transportation increase more rapidly than American shipping increases, and the excess of this ratio is enjoyed by foreign nations, so that while we note some augmentation of our shipping, we are compelled to note also a greater augmentation in foreign shipping, and consequently a steadily enlarging balance against us in the shipping account.

The true aggregate balance against us, therefore, would be ascertained by adding together the $128,000,000, balance on merchandise account, the $40,000,000 on tourists' account, the interest on our European loans public and private and the balance against us in the transportation account. These figures would foot up more than $200,000,000 for 1872. Of course this great drain of the precious metals could not but cause a rise in their value upon the universal principal that the value of any article of commerce rises when the article is scarce, and falls when it is abundant.

But it is singular that the remedy suggested by the Herald for this state of affairs should not have any relation whatever to the cause. It is not by some scheme to increase the exports of the country or decrease the imports, not by the building up of our home industries making us a self dependent nation so far as possible, not by the encouragement of our shipping and the getting possession of our natural proportion of the vast and profitable carrying business of the world, not by having our tourists travel over their own country a little, which would be a very good thing for most of them to do independently of the question of finance—it is not by any of these means that the malady is to be cured but by some change in the management of the United States Treasury by some system not specifically stated by the Herald which is to produce a currency of unvarying value so that all commodities shall be measured by a standard free from fluctuations. This enormous balance against the nation all due in gold, may go on increasing from year to year at its present rate, and we will meet it by tinkering the currency of the country. Whether we water the currency and thus give it greater bulk or condense it down to a stronger consistency, the exigencies of the occasion may from time to time suggest, but we will pay our foreign debt by tinkering with our home currency! That is the principle, the details can be settled hereafter. Mr Wilkins Micawber made himself a financial celebrity throughout two continents by his ingenuity and success in paying all his old notes by giving new ones but this scheme of paying all our foreign creditors by sitting down at home in our easy chairs and altering [illegible] precedents throws Micawber completely in the shade.

Still in Durance Vile

And now after all the clamor of the press against the action of the Government in arresting Bogart the Chronicle's Modoc correspondent it turns out that the action of the naval authorities is sustained by the United States Circuit and District judges who sat together to hear the case upon habeas corpus and Bogart is remanded to the custody of the naval officers to await his trial by court martial. We suspected from the first that such would be the upshot of the matter. His having become a "member of the press" was about the only ground the press had for complaining of his arrest and that ground of course amounted to nothing in law or reason. It was simply the common feeling which most men have for members of their particular guild. It will be generally admitted that the Secretary did not exercise the best possible taste in allowing this man to go at large for a long time when he might have been arrested and dealt with as his case demanded, and then in ordering his apprehension as soon as he began to exercise the right which all citizens have of criticising the official action of the Secretary and his associates. The occasion of the arrest might—naturally would—cause remark because it would suggest the possibility that the Secretary had used his power for the gratification of his anger but it does not lie in Bogart's mouth to complain of this circumstance of the case. All that he enjoyed of respite during the time his arrest was postponed was just so much clear gain to him. A man may well complain that his arrest has come too soon, but it is difficult to see how he can reasonably complain that it has come too late.

A Good Opening to Drop Money Into

The Omaha people have not got enough of lotteries yet. Circulars are again sent out to the world announcing the discovery of that royal road to fortune for which so many people have long been seeking. A grand scheme is to culminate, on May 20th, in a "drawing," in which $230,505 in cash and 50,000 "additional prizes" are to be given away to the persons who happen to hold lucky tickets. Of course these circulars make prominent mention of those two fortunate individuals who drew $50,000 and $30,000 respectively at the Mercy Hospital drawing last summer, and accompany this reminder with a further exhibit of the fact that it would be by no means certain that any given investor of a single dollar in a lottery ticket would not be the lucky man on the 20th of May next when the wheels are to be turned for the adjustment of accounts with such persons as feel themselves justified in gambling a little for the beneficent purpose of erecting an orphan asylum at Omaha. If men will persist in betting on games of chance we should think this game about as well flavored with good purposes as any they are likely to get a chance at, notwithstanding there is an admitted margin against them sufficiently large to build an orphan asylum out of the remnant, after all the winning bets shall have been paid.

The murder mania has invaded the public desk, is rampant among the wives of handsome clergymen. It was only last week that Mrs Hedges was cut off in the sweet bloom of womanhood by Mrs Workman, who thought the existence of Mrs H was getting to be too much of an indispensable to the happiness of her liege lord Mr W. The difficulty originated in pastoral visits of unnecessary frequency and unseemly duration.

Mr Tom Murphy, Jr, a son of Tom Murphy of Custom House notoriety, finds it necessary to publish a card explicitly denying the report that he is engaged to be married to Miss Nellie Grant, daughter of the President. Thomas is a handsome, prepossessing youth of twenty summers, and his reputation for veracity is so good that a charitable public will readily release him from the galling accusation of the N Y Herald.

Subscriptions are being taken at the office of the Boston Advertiser for the gallant hero, Heys of whose noble conduct we made mention yesterday. Already a handsome sum has been received. Of this reward the Transcript says 'All benevolent admirers of true heroism should hear and answer it with good cheers and ample supplies for the man whose humanity inspired even his teeth to save drowning comrades.'

The St Louis Democrat says that Mr Erastus Wells Congressman from the Second District of that city has promised to introduce a bill at the first of the December session to re establish the old rate of $5,000 per annum and adds 'By so doing he will entitle himself to the applause of the country and the man who votes against him may bid farewell to public life.'

B F Dowell writes that Senator Mitchell has rented a house in Washington City and is fitting it up "at his own expense." At whose expense we should like to know, is it customary for Senators to fit up their houses? As Dowell has been in Washington most of the time for several years, and is in a situation to answer the question we call upon him to explain.

A year or two ago, when the cable imprudently announced the death of Pio Nono, an Indiana editor was so badly sold that he published on the morning of the announcement, an obituary a column and a half long. We have not heard of any similar indiscretion as a result of the conflicting rumors of the past week.

The S F Bulletin touches up one of the prominent residents of that city in the following manner: 'James McCready is one of the oldest and most distinguished scoundrels in the State and has a record in contemplating which ordinary thieves must experience a sense of utter insignificance.' What sort of 'style' is that?

The New York Herald says that A T Stewart, the millionaire, is suffering intensely from Bright's disease of the kidneys. He is seventy three years of age yet most patient and heroic in his illness.

Representatives Shellabarger and Crebs are to be added to the list of those Congressmen who have refused to accept their back pay.

A Grand Character

Rev Mr Ancient, whose heroism in risking his own life a score of times to save the drowning passengers of the Atlantic, receives a touching tribute in the eloquent words of the New York Herald, which will be found in another column, is a modest Episcopalian clergyman at Prospect, Nova Scotia. In times like these, when gigantic fraud and universal crime conspire to shake one's faith in human virtue it is inspiring to turn to the contemplation of this grand character, whose nobility stands out in marked contrast to the corruption of our age. We can do no better than to append the following sketch of this model minister who has thus grandly shown his faith by his deeds. The annexed personal description is furnished by the Halifax correspondent of the New York Tribune:

The Rev Mr Ancient the brave man who rescued Chief Officer Firth is in charge of the church at the latter place [Terence Bay]. He labors here as a missionary for the Colonial Church Society. His people almost worship him and he is as good as he is brave. I found him yesterday at his home near the plain little chapel on the hill. He is a man about forty six years of age and English by birth six feet in height, and strongly built. He has a genial face a bright eye a clear head, and a warm heart. He speaks fluently, but so unpretendingly that his noble action speaks more loudly than his own modest words. Since the wreck he has been busy burying the dead performing his duty as a minister and seeing that everything is done decently and in order.

Yesterday sixty four were buried. The little church was opened, and the people his poor but honest parishioners, came to pay the last tribute of respect to those whom they had tried in vain to save. Mr Ancient simply read the church service. There was no time for a sermon, and none was needed. His example last Wednesday was a far more eloquent sermon to his people than anything he could have preached.

Mr Ancient's account of the part he played in the fearful tragedy was vivid and interesting. When he reached the wreck which took place about two miles from his house, most of the saved had been landed. He sought to find them shelter till his attention was attracted by the man and the woman in the rigging and a boy on the wreck. He went to Mr Ryan the magistrate, and said, 'The water is smooth enough you can get alongside in a boat.' They were then hauling the boats on the shore. 'But you cannot get at them when you get out there' said Mr Ryan. 'Give me a boat and some men, put me on board and I will get them.' A boat was manned but when they neared the ship the men would not put him on board. They loved their pastor and thought it certain death to let him on the vessel. Mr Ancient entreated them. 'John,' he said to the most solicitous of the crew 'if I am doomed I won't hold you responsible. Put me on board.' While they were backing and filling the boy fell off. They picked him up, wrapped a coat around him, and landed him.

Finally the men agreed to put Mr Ancient on board. The ship's side was then at an angle of fifty degrees and the fishermen have not yet got over their admiration for their pastor's skill in climbing it, and in running the rail he found a piece of one of the braces in the main rigging made one end fast and carried the other along with him. When he reached the outer davit he shouted to the man in the rigging, 'You are an officer, are you not?' 'Yes,' was the reply. 'Then you know how to make a bowline?' 'Yes, sir.' Mr Ancient then threw him an end of the rope, first taking a turn around the davit. 'Now put confidence in me and move when I tell you.' Mr Firth followed his directions, and the minister led him along by the rope, taking in the slack as he went. Whenever he slipped the turn around the davit and the strong arm of his rescuer held him. A great sea swept over and washed the officer off. "O Lord," he cried out, "I have broken my shins, I have broken my shins." "Never mind your shins, man! it is your life we are after." Finally he got him into the main rigging and to the vessel's side and let him into the boat by a rope, and the man was saved.

Mr Ancient was formerly a scripture reader in the British navy but has been at Prospect for six years. He passed his examination, and has taken orders, determined to become a fisher of men. He is a man thoroughly in earnest, but not so serious that he could not laugh heartily when he spoke of Officer Firth's solicitude for his shins. Like the fisherman preacher of the Sea of Galilee he knows how to cast his net for souls, and if he is not a Peter himself, he has in the most literal sense built his church upon a rock, and may the gates of hell never prevail against it!

Some time since, Postmaster Jones of New York City, notified his subordinates that he would not accept any donation or testimonial from them, as many of them would be forced to contribute who could not afford it. The Tribune commended this action in making the announcement. Several of the employees of the Post Office have written a letter of inquiry to that journal, asserting that the Superintendent of the office has called upon them for contributions, notwithstanding the refusal. The Tribune replies that the Postmaster has positively declined to accept any "gift" purchased by these "voluntary assessments," and administers a wholesome rebuke to those who attempt to perpetuate what the poor salaried men denounce as a nuisance. The practice is a most execrable one, and the Tribune's suggestion that "it is intended only to advance the ends of the few who insist upon it," is most sensible.

One of our Consuls is in trouble. It is Dr. Bertram of Missouri, who, when he went to Montevideo to take charge of the Consulate, found that rents were so high and charges for clerks' services so great that he could neither rent a place to live in nor employ clerical assistance, on the limited salary of his office—one thousand dollars per annum. But the patriotic Doctor was not to be thwarted by a pecuniary consideration: he established his Consulate in a tent and lived in nomadic simplicity. The effete despotisms of the Old World refused to recognize the Doctor socially and one morning, with a sigh, he "folded his tent like the Arab, and as silently stole away." In justice to the fugacious Consul it is to be remarked that no discrepancy has been discovered in his accounts.

The famous Chicopee Woolen Mills of Springfield, Massachusetts were burned on the night of April 11th. These mills were among the largest in New England. There were destroyed in this conflagration over nine hundred looms, containing a large amount of cloth, and twenty two thousand pounds of filling besides ten thousand pounds of coarse yarn. A Springfield dispatch says that the loss is estimated at $300,000 all covered by insurance. Eight hundred hands are thrown out of employment, three fourths of whom are girls.

The Washington Chronicle is the only exchange that comes to our table that attempts to justify the salary steal. Brother Harlan wades through two columns of dubious qualifying phrases to prove that each Congress has the right to adjust the salary of its members.

In the course of the debate in the Massachusetts Legislature on a bill authorizing the city of Boston to fill low territory, Representative J B Smith, a hotel keeper, brought down the house by saying that for many years past he had had much experience in filling flats!

The Washington correspondent of a Boston paper writes under date of April 7th: "Information has been received here of the approaching trial of a Mr Goldstein of this city who traveled over the Union Pacific Railroad last season on the pass of Representative Speer of Georgia, now deceased. The conductor noticed that he registered his name at a hotel as Goldstein instead of Speer, which discovery led to a demand for explanation, and finally to an inquiry by the grand jury."

NEW PUBLICATIONS

About the richest thing we have had an opportunity of enjoying of late in the way of new books is Major W H Bell's Quiddities of an Alaskan Trip published by Geo A Steel & Co of this city. It is not a book to be read for there is little reading in it. It is an exhibition of all the comic points of an official trip from New York to Alaska in cuts with just enough explanation to make the whole matter thoroughly enjoyable. We were not aware, that so many follies of the time could be hit off in connection with the Alaska elephant. The mechanical work is of the very finest and the book is altogether a treat. Major Bell's many acquaintances here will not fail to enjoy this production of his genius in a high degree. Orders we understand are coming in so rapidly that the first edition of one thousand copies is likely to be exhausted in a very short time.

The Madison (Wis.) Journal of the 11th inst publishes a letter from Mr R W Suckow, in which the writer says that he went to Europe in company with Ole Bull and other prominent Norwegians last year in the Atlantic. Mr Suckow in proof of the statement that the officers of that ill fated steamer were negligent and careless, cites the fact that when nearing the Irish coast—in the voyage referred to—they missed striking a dangerous reef by two minutes sail only, the passengers crying out "breakers ahead" before the lookout or officers on duty had discovered them. The evidences of criminal neglect of duty which are closing up every avenue of escape from the awful charge of murder which is now uttered by every journal of influence east of the Rocky Mountains, are overwhelming. It is now said that one lady escaped the great disaster by landing at Queenstown.

A Washington correspondent thinks that the Forty second Congress builded better than it knew in repealing the franking privilege in this that after the first of July all the Departments will be required to pay postage on all correspondence. The heads of Departments are considering how they may best economize in order to meet this additional expense, and it has been decided in some of the offices to do away with the heavy banknote paper which has been in use heretofore, and to substitute a lighter grade. It has also been the custom to use whole sheets of paper in the correspondence. Henceforward half-sheets will be used whenever available, and the happiest illustration of the spigot and bung-hole process will soon be on exhibition. The suggestion that only skilled phonographers shall be employed as clerks (thus saving considerable stationery) is tendered gratis.

The Supreme Court of the United States has recently decided in the case of the United States vs. the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, that it is not within the power of Congress to tax the property of a municipal corporation,—viz the mortgages held by the city of Baltimore on said road for the security of bonds issued in its aid, and also that it was not the intention of the internal revenue laws to tax the property of such corporation.

Henry Clay's birthday—the 12th of April—was celebrated becomingly at Ashland. Hon Proctor Knott, the Duluth orator, delivered an address at Morrison Chapel, after which the students of Ashland marched to the cemetery and deposited a wreath of immortelles upon the sarcophagus of the dead statesman, the doors of the crypt being opened by the President of the Monumental Association, for that purpose.

The total number of cows kept within the city limits of Boston is 1,319. Of these, but 30 are kept within the city proper. Milk is 8 cents per quart, and a prominent journal asserts that of the milk inspected by the city inspector, over one quarter of the samples were found to be adulterated—a very small proportion.

The Indiana State Agricultural Society is making extraordinary preparations for the next State Fair. A new pavilion, to cost $100,000 will be erected, and the grounds are to be beautified regardless of expense.

Congressman Roosevelt has written a letter to the Board of Education of New York City, in which he tenders his back pay under the salary grab as a fund to be used in furnishing prizes for deserving pupils in the public schools.

Mr Nelson Curtis, a superintendent of certain public works in Boston, had his pocket-book, containing $27,000, stolen from him while paying off workmen!

CITY.

A Very Bold Robbery.—A passenger who arrived last evening from Salem on the train gives us the following particulars of a very bold robbery which was committed near that place on Sunday evening On that evening two men entered a small beer saloon about 7 o'clock, which stood near to the Fair Grounds and called for something to drink The proprietor an old man complied with the request After quaffing off the beverage one of the men drew a revolver and threatening to kill him if he made any noise demanded that he should deliver over While the old man stood behind the bar half terrified to death and fearful of making an outcry, one of the men held the pistol cocked and within a few feet of his head, while the other fellow went through the premises The drawer under the bar was relieved of about thirty dollars and also the proprietor of a valuable gold watch and chain and also two suits of good clothes Having secured these the robbers took the proprietor and tied him down securely on a bed which stood in the rear portion of the saloon, with his face downward They then decamped, leaving the proprietor to get free at his leisure As he lived alone and no house was near, he was compelled to get loose the best way possible This he succeeded in doing by exerting himself for several hours On getting loose he went to Salem and notified the Sheriff of the robbery

Re-distribution.—Orders were received yesterday by Adjutant General Dennison from Gov Grover for a re-distribution of arms and accouterments among the several counties of the State As will be observed the distribution differs in the number of arms from that published last week Gen Dennison has been authorized to distribute arms and accouterments as follows To the County Judge of Union county, 100 rifles 100 sets of accouterments, and 5 000 metallic cartridges, to the County Judge of Umatilla county 60 rifles, 60 sets of accouterments and 3,000 metallic cartridges to the County Judge of Wasco county, 60 rifles, 60 sets of accouterments and 5,000 metallic cartridges to the County Judge of Grant county, 60 rifles, 60 sets of accouterments and 700 metallic cartridges to the county Judge of Benton county, 50 rifles, 50 sets of accouterments and 2,500 cartridges to the County Judge of Jackson county, 120 rifles, 120 sets of accouterments and 6 000 cartridges Adjutant General Dennison went over to Vancouver yesterday to make some arrangements regarding the shipment of these munitions to their respective destinations All these arms are now in the arsenal at that place Arrangements having been made, these arms will be forwarded in a few days

A N GAMBELL, Deputy Collector.

The Mila Bond.—When the little schooner Kitts Heron, which arrived here a few days since from Tillamook, sails hence, she will carry away a quantity of rope, oakum, bolts, etc, to be used in repairing the schooner Mila Bond A recent examination of the hull of this vessel, which was blown ashore last winter, discovers the fact that it can be repaired and put in good sailing trim without incurring much expense All the timbers of the keel are uninjured, and but few of the planks have been shivered by the rough pounding. The frame will be rebraced and tightened up by strong iron bolts, the planks of the hull and deck fastened with new spikes, and the seams recaulked

Boiler, Engine, etc.—A large scow loaded with the boiler, old engine, steam fittings, etc., of the steam tug U. S. Grant, was towed up Monday by the tug Varuna and the cargo placed on the Gas Company's wharf. The engine and steam jointings will probably be sold to the foundry, as they are old and much corroded by exposure to the action of the water and wholly unserviceable By being overhauled, the boiler can be used for some years to come It will be remembered that the U S Grant was blown ashore and totally wrecked below Astoria about two years ago The machinery was fished out after great labor, but was so damaged and broken up as to be useless for service.

District Court Proceedings.—The following are the proceedings of the District Court at Vancouver, yesterday

Henry J Spence, indicted for grand larceny, arraigned and plea of not guilty entered, trial to day.

W H. J. Bowman tried for grand larceny and honorably acquitted.

J. L. M Cooper, indicted for cutting timber on Government land, plead guilty and fined $15 and costs.

Insane.—A Miss Sarah Hellering, aged about 16 years, was examined yesterday before Judge Hamilton, and adjudged insane In the afternoon she was conveyed to the asylum This unfortunate young lady has been afflicted for some time with idiocy, which has of late assumed symptoms of insanity of a violent character, until her removal to that institution became necessary She was confined in the asylum last summer for five months.

New Tugs.—Work on the new tug boats now being built at Westport and Astoria, is going briskly ahead The new tug at Westport is all ready to launch, and to receive the machinery, and the new boat at Astoria is rapidly approaching completion It is probable that both these steam tugs will be ready for service in a few months.

Last Night of the Picture Sale.—The last sale of Snow & Roos will take place this evening. Having such a large stock it was impossible to dispose of only a portion last evening They are going very low, and any one neglecting to attend will miss a rare opportunity to purchase pictures at a bargain.

From Tillamook.—The little schooner Kitts Heron arrived from Tillamook on Monday She had a fair voyage from the bay to the mouth of the river, and made good time Her cargo consisted of cedar bolts for shingles and boards

Stock.—One hundred and ten head of sheep and fifty head of cattle arrived in the city last evening Both droves were taken away by steamer this morning The cattle were taken to the Dalles, and the sheep to Kalama

Bark Melancthon.—This bark, having completed her cargo of wheat for San Francisco, is now lying at Rainier She has received a deck load of bolts at that point and will be towed down the river to day by the Mary Bell

From San Francisco.—The steamer Oriflamme arrived here last evening from San Francisco with a full freight and a number of passengers She made very good time to this port, and had pleasant weather throughout

A BLOW FOR LIBERTY

A gentleman who arrived in the city yesterday from Lafayette, Yamhill county, gives us the following particulars of a remarkable scene which was enacted at that place on Monday morning Last winter an account was published in this paper in regard to the burning of a large flouring mill on the Yamhill river by a man named Markham The incendiary made his escape but was overtaken in Southern Oregon, arrested, brought back and lodged in jail to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of arson Circuit Court met last week, and Markham's case came up for trial on Saturday On Monday morning the jury came into Court to render their verdict in the matter It is needless to state that the decision of the jury was against the prisoner at the bar A number of persons were in the court room at the time to hear the verdict, as the case produced considerable excitement, and attracted much attention The foreman arose and handed the slip of paper on which the verdict was written to the Clerk, who unfolded it and read in a loud distinct tone of voice the findings of the jury Scarcely had the voice of the Clerk ceased to echo in the ears of those present, when Markham sprang to his feet so violently as to make the chain and ball attached to one ankle fairly clank Pointing to Judge Bonham who was seated quietly on the bench he exclaimed "I will not go to the Penitentiary alive no never If I was guilty of that or me I would be willing to suffer but I am perfectly innocent and I am determined not to go to the Penitentiary Saying which Markham drew a knife from beneath his coat and before any one could offer to interfere he stabbed himself in the left side Whether by design on the part of the prisoner or the result of accident, the point of the blade struck a rib and glanced off inflicting but a very slight flesh wound Had a flash of lightning suddenly shivered the furniture in the room, or some other equally unexpected event transpired, the excitement could not have been more intense for the moment Every person sprang to his feet, Markham's wife, who was sitting by his side, fainted the Deputy Sheriff who had the prisoner in charge stood aghast some rushed pell mell to and fro some said one thing and some said another and a scene of indescribable confusion followed In the mean time Markham after dealing himself the blow had cast the knife away in disgust, and on perceiving the excitement which his strange conduct had produced, was making a desperate attempt to swoon Blood was flowing profusely from his person and for some moments it was thought he had fatally stabbed himself Some one who had more presence of mind than the rest, came forward and proceeded to inspect the wound A glance revealed the fact that the injuries were very slight, and the consequences need be attended with no apprehensions He assured those present that Markham had not seriously injured himself, and on perceiving that the prisoner "still lived and moved" after his rash attempt at self destruction, the crowd came to their senses, and order so completely overthrown for the moment, was restored A small gash and some blood was all that disfigured the side of Markham The blood was washed off, the slight injuries dressed, and the exciting scene was at an end It is generally thought that Markham had no intention of killing himself, but that he either wished to create sympathy in his behalf, or produce the impression that he was partially deranged Be that as it may, the attempt to commit suicide was not a success, and the "insanity dodge" availed nothing He will receive his sentence in a few days

Ten Thousand Dollars for a Dinner.—One of the greatest pieces of extravagance on record in this country is described by a New York correspondent of the Boston Transcript It occurred in the shape of a private dinner given at Delmonico's A wealthy German importer who has retired from business, and was about to leave for Europe, decided before leaving America, to invite his friends to dinner Covers were ordered for 71 guests, and carte blanche was given to Delmonico for dinner The large banquet hall of that establishment was secured—the same hall where the dinners to Dickens and Tyndall were given, at the rate of $1 a ticket For nearly a week the employes of Delmonico were engaged in preparing for this dinner A table 21 feet wide, extending the whole length of the room, was constructed In the center of it an artificial pond was made, with a fountain, while around the fountain five swans were floating Of course the pond was caged over The center of the table was banked with flowers, from the water's edge at a cost of over $3,000 Perfume fountains were constructed in various parts of the table, and to add to the intoxication of the senses, Berstein's full band of 15 pieces was engaged to furnish the music The dinner commenced at 5 o'clock P M, and lasted a couple of hours, after which dancing took place until midnight, when the dinner (or supper as it was then called) was resumed for an hour or two, followed by dancing until 4 o'clock in the morning The bill for the dinner amounted to just $10,000

Mr Curtis's Resignation.—The letter of resignation of George William Curtis is as follows

West New Brighton, N Y, March 18, 1873

My Dear Sir As the circumstances under which several important appointments have recently been made seem to me to show an abandonment both of the spirit and the letter of the civil service regulations, I respectfully resign my position as a member of the Advisory Board of the Civil Service In so doing, I beg to assure you of my warmest wishes, and of the continuance of my most earnest efforts for the success of your administration Very respectfully and truly yours, GEO W CURTIS

A Boston paper says

"In the course of the debate on the bill requiring the sale of eggs by the pound, in the Senate yesterday, when a member moved that the bill lie over a bystander suggested that lay over would apply better in that case "

FASHIONABLE NOTES

Our 'Modistes' will open a new and varied stock of hats and bonnets to day

The Rabagas is the leading spring bonnet, or round hat It is worn as either

The old fashioned "chapeau bras" are coming into favor again as opera hats so we hear

Society may congratulate itself on the fact that feminine fastness has gone out of fashion entirely

The latest caprice in fans is the Trianon, whose sticks measure five eighths of a yard in length

A mother's advice to a daughter on the subject of a spotted silk dress—"Turn, Angelina, ever dear!"

Vests for evening wear are made with low, rolling collars to show the embroidery on the shirt bosom

The highest society of Cleveland, O, looks up to a lofty belle measuring nearly eight feet in her stockings

Masculine nether integuments are becoming larger, and assuming a graceful and drapery like appearance

Suits of black silk are much in favor for the promenade and are richly trimmed with black velvet and lace

The French heel has gone out of fashion, so has the chignon so has voluminous crinoline The satirist mourns

The fashionable spring overcoat bears a strong family resemblance to a feminine jupon with the waist for the collar

Since the invention, or discovery, of Alaska diamonds a solitaire pearl has become the proper thing in engagement rings

The pale faded tints seen in the fashionable fabrics are repeated in the ribbons and silk linings of the hats and bonnets

The Livingstone is the leading scarf It is a modified Windsor The fashionable colors are bronze, indigo, slate, and pale cafe au lait

Silk pocket handkerchiefs white and in pale tints, with dark colored borders and figured with Jacquard effects, are late novelties

The benevolent young ladies of Pittsfield, Mass, continue to meet to make nether garments for the Zulus and cut 'Zulu lunches' together.

We hear that flute playing has become a fashionable accomplishment for young ladies They find this playing upon the pipe as easy as—flirting

Bouquets of various kinds of flowers form many of the face trimmings A bouquet and trailing sprays are seen at the back, mingled with streamers of lace and ribbon.

Scarf-rings in oxydized silver of fanciful designs are worn with dark scarfs in the morning during business hours The favorite figures on these scarfs are polka-dots, rings and Greek squares

Collars are worn wide and turn down for morning, high and standing, with turned-back corners, for evening dress The Amadeus is the leading style for turned down, the Czar for standing collars

In summer wear white will, from present indications, be as fashionable as last season, but it is almost too early yet to speak of those goods, although the windows and counters of our large stores are filled with them

The American silks are steadily gaining in public favor, and can be had in all colors as well as in black They are rich and soft in quality, and wear remarkably well They are also said to wash as well as cotton goods.

There is a rage this season for old and rare antique laces. Real and fine lace is worn almost to the seclusion of the cheap imitations. Hamburg edgings and embroideries on fine and sheer muslins are called for instead of imitation lace.

Sleeveless jackets are now worn for the promenade of different shades of velvet or silk Pretty little jackets for the house in different colors are elaborately embroidered and trimmed with either lace or fringe Lace sacques will form quite an important feature of the summer toilette

Polonaises of pale tints in cashmere are very fashionable this season, also to be worn over silk skirts. They are beautifully trimmed with folds of silk of some contrasting shade and bordered with yak lace the same color as the silk Mignonette and olive green combined in one costume is very stylish.

A simple and complete contrivance for securing hair on ladies' heads, is an invention which consists in a kind of frame to be worn instead of a comb and made to fit the head, and covered with some soft material The natural hair is drawn through holes in the frame and made up into a knot then pins are passed through the soft material into the natural hair and serve to hold the frame in position The chignon is then attached to the upper part of the frame, and is arranged to fall in such fashion as to completely conceal the latter

Governor Smith, of Georgia has addressed a circular to each of the Governors of the Southern, Western and Northwestern States, inviting them to unite in a Convention to be held at Atlanta, Georgia, on the 20th of May next, "for the purpose of considering and discussing the steps to be taken for the speedy construction of the Atlantic and Great Western Canal " The Governor says that by this work it is proposed to connect the Tennessee river and through that river the entire system of inland navigation of the West with the Atlantic Ocean at Savannah and Brunswick, Georgia. This scheme has been denounced as a job, and during the last session of the Forty-Second Congress, strong lobbies were working both for and against But it received a certain sanction, we believe, in the report of the House Committee on Commerce, and Governor Smith alludes to this fact in his circular The Governor ingeniously adds "Such a visit (as that proposed) would, in my opinion, conduce in no small degree to a complete restoration of harmony and good feeling between all sections of our common country "

The Massachusetts Legislature is now considering a bill which provides for the sale of eggs by weight

Japan and Java.

From San Francisco exchanges we gather the following news items

The following are the notifications issued by the Japanese Government with reference to mixed marriages

1 Any Japanese subject desiring to marry a wife of foreign parentage residing in Japan must first apply to the Government to do so 2 Any woman of foreign extraction who shall marry a Japanese subject—whether here or abroad—will, after the ceremony, be looked upon as a naturalized Japanese, and be subject to the laws of this empire 3 All Japanese subjects, whilst travelling in foreign countries, desirous of intermarriage with subjects of another realm, must, before entering into the marriage contract, apply for permission to do so to the Minister of Japan or Consul resident in that country, who shall judge of the propriety of the application and transmit it to the home Government 4 Any Japanese willing to receive a foreigner into his family as an adopted son (son in law) must first obtain permission of the Government to do so and after the performance of the ceremony he will be looked upon as a naturalized Japanese subject 5 Any Japanese woman who may marry a foreigner will thence forth be no longer regarded as a subject of this empire, unless she has first obtained the permission of the Government to contract the alliance 6 Any Japanese woman who may marry a foreigner will by that act relinquish all or any right she may have to houses, farms gardens or landed property but if she has obtained the permission of the Government to contract the alliance and continues a subject of Japan, she may retain her personal property, such as money, jewelry and clothes.

JAPANESE FASHIONS

The remarkable costumes which the Japanese people are to be seen wearing since they have had permission to dress themselves as they like have on several occasions been the theme of remark in the public press, as well as the cause of many a smile to the foreigners dwelling in the country This was mainly due to the incongruous mixture of foreign and Japanese clothes which might be seen in any thoroughfare, such a miraculous tall black hat of somewhere about twenty years ago crowning a full suit of Japanese costume—table covers used as dresses, etc But Japanese ingenuity has now come to be developed in the direction of wearing apparel, and some very fantastical bits of dress may be seen about We met with a very neat specimen of one such article two days ago, in the shape of a cap consisting of the skin of a white rabbit, the head being retained, stuffed, fitted with red eyes and brought down over the forehead of the wearer in the nature of a peak The effect was not bad at all, but we should decidedly consider the article far too conspicuous to be convenient as ordinary wear, at least till the idea shall have been more generally adopted —Hiogo News

On the 12th of March, Soyejima, the Japanese Minister of Foreign Affairs, left Yedo in the man of war Riujo Kan, accompanied by the Malacca for China The object of this official visit is to make a formal demand for the punishment of the Formosans, who, it is reported, killed and eat certain Loochooans wrecked upon the coast of Formosa.

The following information has been received by the Gkurasho, relative to an eruption of the volcano called Asoyma, in the province of Higo

On the afternoon of the 2d of December last, a severe and prolonged shock of earthquake was experienced in the vicinity of the mountain At the same time quantities of sand and stone and volumes of smoke were ejected from the crater with loud reports resembling the discharges of artillery Subsequently a large number of craters —the number is estimated at twenty—opened near the summit of the mountain, and ponderous stones were ejected from them in all directions There are sulphur mines situated on the mountain, and unfortunately, when the eruption occurred many workmen were engaged in them. Four of them were killed, and a large number were wounded by falling stones, etc. The eruption and the earthquake gradually subsided On the 5th another eruption followed which did considerable damage, destroying the wheat and barley crop.

JAVA.

The rice scarcity which is still prevailing in Java appears to be most severely felt at Demak, near Samarang Corpses of men and women who have died of hunger are daily found on the roadside, it is no rarity to see persons lying along the roads, exhausted and awaiting death On two occasions it has happened that women have offered children for sale to Europeans These women as well as the children looked dismally thin, and assigned as a reason for their unnatural actions the hope that the children, being with Europeans, would not at least die of hunger, which would otherwise be unavoidable Drouth continues to prevail in several districts of Java. In the Samarang residency the paddy planting has twice failed in consequence. At Demak, by last advices, some rain has fallen, and the poor people are planting paddy again with renewed hope.

Leaf by Leaf the Roses Fall

A [illegible] BALLAD

Leaf by leaf the roses fall
Drop by drop the springs run dry
One by one beyond recall
Summer roses droop and die
But the roses bloom again
And the spring will gush anew
In the pleasant April rain
And the summer sun and dew

So in hours of deepest gloom
When the springs of gladness fail
And the roses in their bloom
Droop like maidens wan and pale
We shall find some hope that lies
Like a silent gem apart
Hidden far from careless eyes
In the garden of the heart

Some sweet hope to gladness wed
That will spring afresh and new
When grief's winter shall have fled
[illegible]
Some sweet hope that breathes of Spring
Through the weary time
Budding for its blossoming
In the spirit's [illegible]

The Clerical Hero of the Atlantic

When horrors such as the wreck of the Atlantic come before us we cannot at times distinguish the highest attributes of manhood rising amid the gloom of death to make known the kinship of man to our ideals of the divine. The rock that shivers the stately ship, the vessel that breaks upon the rock, the water that swallows, the hurricane that tosses the waters are things material and insensible. Man alone amid all the horrid war of winds and waters raging can stand out from the infernal surroundings with a gleam of the god-like on his brow. Sudden disasters, like revolutions, produce their heroes from unexpected sources. They are tossed up by the waves as it were, and the world can admire, although it may not understand. That one of the heroes of the wreck of the Atlantic should prove to be an Episcopal clergyman, Mr. Ancient, ought not to astonish any one, but because of the very fitness of the man's profession for his self-abnegation, his courage in a good cause, his devotion to the Master's doctrine of charity, many will find cause for wonder. That in the most gallant manner he risked his life a dozen times to save the lives of others, that he was first in the boat to rescue the last man from his slow agony in the frozen rigging when men used to the terrors of the deep shrank back from the task, places him in the front rank of those rare heroes that the world can praise and admire without a single detracting breath. He was a clergyman, men may say, and self-sacrifice is the great rule under which he had registered his life. His Master, the Great Shepherd, not only risked but gave up His life for His flock. It would follow naturally from this that his heroism arose from a sensitive appreciation of his duty to God, to himself and to his fellow man. The world, however, will rightly rate his heroism as something higher than mere bounden duty. Sorrowfully we have been made to feel that those from whom most was to be expected have often fallen shortest in performance. The Teacher preached His greatest sermons from Gethsemane and Calvary. The first showed how deeply He felt the bitterness of the cup before Him, the second how sublimely He drained it to the dregs. But teachers in His name are little looked to to-day for either the sensitiveness or the sacrifice. Vain show, soft pillows without a thorn, and softer, weaker ways have become so much the rule that a live, practical follower of Christ coming even from the ranks of the ministry as a surprise. The Rev. Mr. Ancient has merited this high praise, and we turn with hearty relief to his noble conduct at the wreck from contemplating in sorrow and anger the effeminate lives and the lisping prayers of so many of his clerical brethren.—N. Y. Herald.

Love in a Blaze.

HOW TWO YOUNG FOLKS GOT TOO WARM SLEIGH-RIDING.

[From the Dubuque Times.]

We have already made it a matter of printed record that a house was set on fire by carrying heated bricks to bed, and that a young married couple were "scorched" by heated "sadirons." It now becomes our duty, as a faithful chronicler of passing events, to record a freak of active caloric under peculiar circumstances whereby an impromptu funeral pyre on the broad plains of Iowa almost became a matter of painful history. Without holding the reader in suspense any longer, we proceed at once with the relation. One week ago last Sunday (the news has been some time reaching us) a Mr. Fogarty and a Miss Kennedy, of Pilot Grove, eight miles north of Independence, resolved like good Christians, to go to church. The morning was bright, and bitter cold, as every one will remember. No fair weather or warm weather Christians, were this worthy couple, but as persevering as Bunyan's ideal, therefore they heated a goodly-sized chunk of cord stick in the stove, chucked it into the bottom of the sleigh, jumped in themselves, wrapped their quilts and blankets around them, and drove on. The miles soon began to be gathered up pretty rapidly under the nimble feet of the horses. "The bells jingled, and everything began, notwithstanding the keen, biting air, to be "lovely and divine," when suddenly a scent of something burning began to fill the air. The lady was the first to scent it, and immediately called the attention of her partner to the very palpable odor. A moment after a column of smoke was seen to issue from behind their seats. "Fire! both exclaimed, and, jumping from the sleigh, each discovered the other to be ablaze. In jumping out, as was natural they should, Mr. Fogarty jumped out on his side, and Miss Kennedy on hers. The danger was imminent. Mr. F. was on fire, Miss K. was on fire, and the sleigh was on fire. With a commendable presence of mind, Mr. F. snow balled himself out, and then rushed to the rescue of Miss K., but by that time the fire had got under such headway that her garments were consumed to her underclothing, even the bone stays of her corset were crisped. Mr. F. rolled her in the snow, and soon had the satisfaction of knowing that, although she was reduced to a very primitive garment for a covering, her person had actually escaped from very serious harm. Our informant did did not state how Mr. Fogarty got his dulcinia home.

Attorney General Williams has written Acting Governor Curtis, of Idaho, that he will retain the custody of the Penitentiary until the next meeting of the Legislature of the Territory, when some provision must be made for the control and keeping of the prison by the Territory.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

TUESDAY EVENING, April 22, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 118¾.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 86 buying; 87 selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 500 fine.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California, 11s 5d@11s 8d; club, 11s 10d@12s 4d.

According to our most recent mail advices from New York, the present month opened with an unusual commotion in financial circles, and was pronounced the most trying to the resources of regular merchants, and the most harrassing to business men generally that has been known since 1861, in consequence of the extreme stringency of money. To attempt anything like a satisfactory explanation of the causes of this remarkable stringency, which has been increasing in severity since last October, would more than quadruple the space that we have at our disposal. The Independent of the 10th says: "It is enough for all practical purposes to know that call loans have ruled for the past week at rates varying from ⅛ per cent. bonus per day and 7 per cent. down to 1-32 per cent., the average rate not being less than ⅛ per cent. per day. Everybody knows that such a rate of interest for money would soon bring the whole mercantile community to bankruptcy, and it is a constant marvel that so few failures have been the result of such an exhausting [illegible]."

There has been a confident feeling among Wall Street brokers that something would be done by the Treasury Department to relieve the necessities of the business men; but this confidence has now been abandoned, and the Shylocks of the money market, having no longer the fear of a Treasury issue of greenbacks, have been bold and unscrupulous in their enormous exactions. At the commencement of the week the rates on call loans were suddenly put up to ¼ and ½ per cent. a day and in some cases to the unprecedented extent of 1 per cent. The money lenders are making rapid fortunes, and the rest of the community are undergoing the process of being rapidly reduced to bankruptcy. During all the time the Secretary of the Treasury keeps on hand $10,000,000 in currency at the Sub Treasury under the pretense of making provision to redeem the outstanding three per cents which some of the banks still retain as a basis of circulation. Then there is in reserve of $44,000,000 of greenbacks which has only been drawn upon to the extent of $[illegible] and in addition to these [illegible] of currency there are $68,000,000 of gold in the Treasury vaults.

The most remarkable circumstance connected with the present situation in Wall street is the strong and stubborn [illegible] stocks. They are [illegible] in their values and from all appearances are likely to [illegible] their [illegible] before the [illegible]. They have [illegible] the foreign [illegible] and are strongly [illegible] by [illegible] capitalists that the [illegible] hardly [illegible] and the [illegible] which was [illegible] is predicted will take place in May. The [illegible] of [illegible] is stated [illegible] but the special [illegible] are Western Union Telegraph, [illegible] Union Pacific, Rock Island and Mississippi, New York Central, Toledo and Wabash and [illegible]. But [illegible] stocks [illegible] strongly fortified, [illegible] Western Union, Lake Shore and Rock Island. These stocks are apparently so strongly held that a break in them is hardly likely, but if through treachery of any one [illegible] of them should give way [illegible] the [illegible] of which could not easily be calculated.

The Coal Trade.

This branch of commerce on this part of the coast is one that is growing into [illegible] importance. During the first quarter of the present year the receipts at San Francisco from the mines [illegible] were as follows: Coos Bay, [illegible] tons; Seattle, 757 tons; Bellingham Bay, [illegible] tons; Vancouver Island, 6,811 tons.

As compared with the same period last year, Coos Bay shows an increase of 1,27[illegible] tons; Seattle, 6,827 tons; Vancouver Island, 1,018 tons; Bellingham Bay, 4,281 tons; or [illegible] an increase of 15,862 tons. Bellingham Bay coal is now selling by the cargo at [illegible] per ton; Seattle at [illegible]; Coos Bay at [illegible]. These prices are much reduced from those prevailing last year, owing to the large supply that [illegible] market. Nanaimo (or Vancouver Island) coal is [illegible] quoted, being already sold under contract prior to arrival.

Eastern Dry Goods Market.

Our latest advices from the East on this subject inform us that there was no branch of business that responded more freely to the improved condition of the weather than dry goods. There was a marked improvement in the movement of all descriptions of goods. The leading houses reported their sales as considerably larger than for the corresponding week in 1872, while the selections were represented to be of a more general character than are usually made at this season. Cotton goods continue very firm with an active demand for both white and colored goods. There was a largely increased demand for prints of popular and well defined colors and styles, the most delicate and graceful figures taking the lead. Among the new and favorite styles are the "polkas," which are taking the place of the Dolly Vardens of last season, though it is to be hoped with better success to manufacturers. Business in Dress Goods continues to increase, and all good styles, whether of home or foreign production, were moving with freedom. Cottonades also showed a decided improvement, the demand being largely on interior account. Woolen goods were moving a little more freely, as were also gentlemen's furnishing goods, in both of which lines prices gave a shade easier for buyers. The demand for spring and summer Shawls was large, and as prices were low and and styles attractive jobbers made that line a specialty. Velvets, Laces and Ribbons were selling at from 10 to 15 per cent. less than at this time last year, and as the probabilities are that better bargains can be made now than by waiting later in the season, the retail trade were buying quite freely. Spring goods in the Clothing line were in moderate request, yet jobbers are not looking for an active trade before the first weeks in the coming month.

LYON'S KATHAIRON,

For Preserving and Beautifying the Human Hair. To Prevent its Falling Out and Turning Grey.

A well preserved Head of Hair, in a person of middle age, at once bespeaks refinement, elegance, health and beauty. It may truly be called Woman's Crowning Glory, while men are not insensible to its advantages and charms. Few things are more disgusting than thin, frizzly, harsh, untamed Hair, with head and coat covered with Dandruff. Visit a barber and you feel and look like a new man. This is what LYON'S KATHAIRON will do all the time. The charm which lies in well placed Hair, Glossy Curls, Luxuriant Tresses, and a Clean Head, is [illegible] and irresistible.

Sold by all Druggists and Country Stores.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
OLD REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,
623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.
How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.
Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,
Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.
DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.
Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.
All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.
Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure.
Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.
REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.
Consultations FREE.
☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as the busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."
